

Air Force Plans to Launch Titan Missile This Year

Power Plant Adapted for 'Exploration'

Plans Disclosed
By Air Secretary
Before Committee

WASHINGTON — The Air Force said today it will launch some time this year an intercontinental ballistic missile, the titan, whose power plant is "particularly adaptable" to exploration of space.

The Titan, a 5,000-mile weapon under development as companion to the Air Force Atlas ICBM, has never had a test flight so far.

PLANS TO STAGE the first Titan test flight this year were disclosed by Air Force Secretary James H. Douglas in testimony before the House Armed Services Committee. He testified as:

—Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson asserted the U.S. is on the threshold of "exciting developments" in space.

—An atomic expert predicted development of nuclear rockets for propulsion of spacecraft.

DOUGLAS TOLD the House committee that the Titan's power plant is "particularly adaptable" not only for launching big satellites but for exploring the depth of the solar system.

The Air Force already has staged four test firings of the Atlas, whose designed range also is 5,000 miles. Development of the Titan started about a year after the Atlas.

DOUGLAS SAID Atlas tests will continue "at an accelerated pace." He repeated that the first operational Atlas unit "will be in space" by December, 1959.

Turning to space research, Douglas said it appears that the Air Force now has rocket engines which, in combination, could send "sizable manned and unmanned" space vehicles into orbit around the earth and provide power for craft to explore space beyond the moon.

"Such projects will take time," Douglas said. "But the significant thing is that we believe we have the important tools now to undertake them as may be desirable."

Three Car Clouts Reported to Police Today

Police today are investigating three car clouts — thefts from automobiles — which were reported early this morning by three Palm Springs residents.

First, was reported at 12:07 a.m. by W. Page Yaw, who said that while he was in a local hotel someone had taken a set of golf clubs from his unlocked automobile.

The second report, by Mrs. Dale Hackney, related that the windshield of her automobile had been broken and her purse, which was left on the seat of the car, had been dumped out on the floor and a wallet containing about $6 had been taken.

Third report was by Howard Matthias, employe at Tanners Motor Livery, who said at 1:26 a.m. that someone had taken a new tire on a yellow wheel off his car and replaced it with an old tire on a red wheel.

Johnson Named To Space Post

WASHINGTON — Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy today named Roy W. Johnson, General Electric Co. executive, to run the Pentagon's new outer space agency.

Grone to Head $75,000 UJA Fund Drive

Awarded Post
For Third Year;
Committees Set

Village merchant Max Grone was this week elected to his third term as chairman of the Palm Springs United Jewish Welfare Fund as the organization launched its $75,000 campaign for 1958.

Grone, who personally toured the State of Israel last summer and got a first-hand glimpse of welfare funds at work, tops a lengthy list of campaign officers named by officials today.

HE IS THE FIRST Villager ever to head the welfare fund drive for three years in succession.

In accepting his post as 1958 chairman, Grone commented that "I am deeply conscious of the honor of being elected again and even more conscious of the responsibilities this office carries."

"Knowing that lives depend on what we here in Palm Springs do," he said, "I pledge my full energies towards the achievement of the most successful campaign ever held here."

APPOINTED TO serve with Grone were:

Honorary Chairmen Mrs. Charles A. Bonoff, Eddie Cantor, the Hon. William H. Friedman, Barnet Ginsburg, Ed Robbin, Aaron Sternberg and Henry Weinberger.

Co-chairman Henry Birns; Advance Gifts Chairmen Abe Levin and Stanley Rosin.

Treasurer Harry Freiberg; Secretary, Clara Fox.

DIVISION CHAIRMEN: Allen Harris, Abe Schwartz and Ted Shaw, B'nai B'rith; Sam Levin, hotels; John Chernus, Indo - La Quinta; Leib Rosen, merchants; Dr. Julius Kaplan, professions.

Campaign Committee: Ralph Alpert, Isadore Becker, Jerry Gore, Emil Lauffer, Al Lehrfeld, Zachary Pitts, Saul Ruskin, Isadore Singer.

Women's Division: Mrs. Abe Schwartz, honorary chairman; Mrs. Max Grone, chairman.

CO-CHAIRMEN MRS. Leo Blum, Mrs. Harry Brody, Mrs. Betty Devore Mrs. Irving Merman and Mrs. Henry Shellow.

Campaign committee members are Mrs. Marty Cobin, Mrs. Jacob Field, Mrs. Herman Laskin, Mrs. Milton Niemetz, Mrs. Lieb Rosen and Mrs. Aaron Sternberg.

THE TOWN'S BIGGEST HAMBURGER is about to be massacred by Orval Risvold, left, Desert Sun circulation manager, and 15-year-old Lee Mohr, Sun carrier boy. Risvold promised Mohr, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mohr, that he'd buy him "the biggest hamburger and the biggest malt in town" if the hard-working carrier boosted the number of customers on his route to 90. Young

Mohr got his 90th customer, but he turned the tables on Risvold when his mother whipped up this large economy size hamburger and filled a thermos jug with malted milk. Mohr brought the burger to the Sun office and Risvold promptly declared it the biggest and best hamburger he's ever eaten. (Desert Sun Photo)

State Personnel Board Submits Report to City

The State Personnel Board today sent to City Manager Robert W. Peterson its recommendation for changes in the job classifications for city employees, ending its two week survey in the community.

A complete report will be made to the City Council at its regular luncheon meeting Monday, and is expected to be up for official action by the governing body Tuesday night.

Although the administration has yet to study and qualify the recommended salary and position changes, the report will recommend a 5 per cent salary increase for almost all city employees. Some jobs will qualify for more of an increase, and others will stay at their present step.

The changes will call for the equalization of each particular group of employees.

Tokyo Rocked By Earthquake

TOKYO — A short but jolting earthquake rocked Tokyo this morning.

It caused window panes of large buildings to rattle and ceiling lights to sway.

Constable Answers Criticism Of Board of Supervisors

Constable Howard Poe of Palm Springs Judicial District today answered criticism of the Riverside County Board of Supervisors, and issued a statement to The Desert Sun in defense of his position in Palm Springs and needs for his office.

Poe took particular objection to a reported statement by Supervisor George Berkey, in which he said that the local constable had never requested clerical help.

"I WOULD LIKE to remind Berkey that in my budget which is turned in every year, I have requested clerical help or any additional help possible," Poe said.

The constable pointed out that the assessed valuation of the Palm Springs Judicial District last year was $82,977,900. "I would like the people who pay the taxes based on this assessed valuation to realize the little benefit the constable's office receives from these taxes."

HE CHARGED that the County's personnel director Donald Spencer, in recommending denial of clerical help as proposed by a local attorney, did not explain how "the compensation fees for the services were determined," even though he did explain how the constables were paid for services performed.

Poe said that fees were established by the State Legislature,

Ike, Stassen Meet, No Resignation

Plan Future
Session, But
No Date Set

WASHINGTON — Harold E. Stassen said today after a conference with President Eisenhower that he did not submit his resignation as disarmament adviser nor did the President request it.

Stassen said he and the President will hold another conference, but no date has been set yet.

He said he still is "seriously considering" running for the Republican gubernatorial nomination in Pennsylvania.

STASSEN SAID he would have to make a decision whether or not to leave the federal government and make his bid in Pennsylvania by March 17.

"We had a good talk and we're going to talk again," Stassen said as he left the White House.

Reporters pressed him on whether he had resigned or planned to resign as recent reports here have said.

"I HAVE NOT submitted a resignation and the President hasn't asked me to," Stassen said.

He described as "erroneous" speculation that he had resigned.

Reports that Stassen is on his way out of the Eisenhower administration have circulated here for some time. The President was asked about them at his news conference Wednesday. He replied that he expected to see Stassen today to discuss what should be done. Eisenhower also praised Stassen's qualifications to serve as a governor.

STASSEN HAS BEEN at loggerheads with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles over the question of new disarmament negotiations with Russia.

Stassen praised the President as one of "the great men of our time." He said he has a "superb relationship" with Eisenhower.

"That continues to be the case," Stassen said.

Stassen turned aside all questions on what he and the President discussed today in their 40-minute talk by saying he never divulges details of meetings with the President.

President Plans Visit to Georgia

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower, still suffering from a sore throat but in apparent good spirits, said today he hopes to revisit Georgia soon.

The President made the remark while talking with 12 Eagle Scouts who called on him at the White House to present him the Boy Scouts' annual "report to the nation" on their activities. They also gave him a plaque.

The President is tentatively scheduled to leave next Wednesday for Thomasville, Ga., where he will be a guest of former Secretary of Treasury George M. Humphrey.

HUMANS ARE STILL HUMAN, REPORTER FINDS

GASTONIA, N. C. — Reporter Bill Williams, who has just completed a panhandler survey, reports that "humans are still human." Fifty per cent of them, anyway.

Williams got himself up as a hobo and made two dozen or so housecalls, asking for food. At half the homes he got a handout.

The reporter's final conclusions:
1. People are pretty generous, after all.
2. The life of a hobo isn't as bad as he'd pictured it.
3. Livermush is a popular ingredient for sandwiches in Gastonia.

REX HARDY, former Palm Springs attorney and more recently a member of the California Public Utilities Commission, this week was appointed to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Los Angeles County Superior Court Judge Henry M. Willis. Judge Willis, 86, will retire at the end of this month. The appointment of Commissioner Hardy to the post was made by Governor Goodwin J. Knight.

Trailer Parks Start United Fund Campaign

A campaign to carry the current Palm Springs United Fund Appeal to 24 resort area trailer parks was organized this week by Bill Ridley, of Sunny Cove Trailer Park.

The goal for the trailer park campaign was set at $6,000.

Committee members appointed to help promote the trailer drive are Wilson Hall, Prairie Schooner Park; Paul Harrison, Horizon Trailer Park, and Karl King of King's View Trailer Park.

Hollister mimeographed "thermometer" posters so that each park may chart its progress in the fund drive.

$5,000 in Jewels, Furs Reported Stolen at Hotel

Two San Francisco couples staying at a local hotel, were victims of a burglary last night in which some $5,000 in jewels and furs were taken.

The victims were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Liss, a restaurant supply manufacturer, and Mrs. and Mrs. Max Galant, mattress manufacturer.

Police have listed the stolen items as a man's wristwatch valued at $350; a lady's wristwatch, $2,000; a pair of men's shoes, $45; one brown mink stole, $1,600; one silver mink stole, $1,000; and $10 in currency.

The President is tentatively scheduled to leave next Wednesday for Thomasville, Ga., where he will be a guest of former Secretary of Treasury George M. Humphrey.

Says President Has Too Many Commissions

Does Give Him
Most of Money
Requested Though

WASHINGTON — The House Appropriations Committee, in its first action on President Eisenhower's new budget, today criticized the way he runs his executive office.

The committee gave him, however, all but $256,000 of the money he asked to run the White House and several minor agencies during the fiscal year starting July 1.

IN ITS FIRST fiscal 1959 money bill the committee voted a total of $14,808,870 of which $12,688,870 would go to run the executive offices.

The committee in approving the bill, said the president is surrounded by too many "boards, commissions, and ad hoc, standing or permanent advisory committees."

"This confusing multiplicity cannot," it said, "avoid duplication and the unnecessary expenditure of time, manpower, and money."

OTHER congressional news:

Education: Dr. Lawrence G. Berthwick, U. S. Commissioner of education, told the Senate Labor and Education Committee that scholarship education program would halt "a tremendous loss of brainpower" that occurs when so many young women fail to complete their education.

The committee is considering both the President's program and a broader one sponsored by congressional Democrats.

AUTOS: GEORGE Romney president of American Motors, said Congress should break up the automotive big three—General Motors, Chrysler and Ford—and limit the power of the United Auto Workers Union.

He told the Senate Monopoly Subcommittee the big three have got so powerful their policy decisions could produce "prosperity or depression for the nation." Romney said today's big unions have excessive power. "The country's labor laws," he said, "have created union monopoly."

New Cold Wave Pours Today Into Southwest

By UNITED PRESS

A new cold wave poured from the Midwest into the Southwest Gulf Coast region today, and weathermen warned that the cold air would invade most of the eastern half of the nation by nightfall.

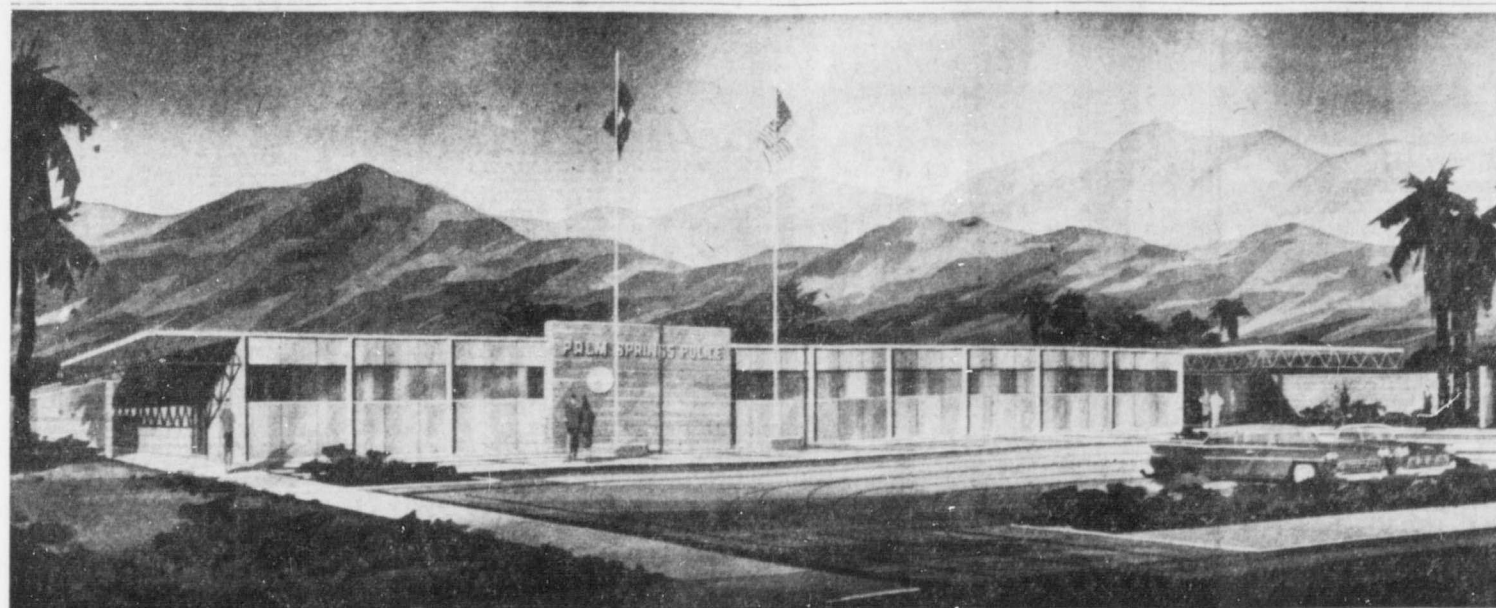

Mild temperatures, laced with severe rain storms, swept the southland Thursday.

The building is estimated to cost $367,000, complete with furnishings and landscaping, and the City Council is expected to take action ordering plans and specifications started on the project. The new building will contain six times the space of the present facility and is projected for growth in this area for the next 15 to 20 years. It is planned that the new $100,000 Riverside county court and sheriff's office building will be built adjoining this structure. (Photo of original drawing by Gayle Studio)

New York School Officials Adopt 'Crackdown' on Troublemakers

NEW YORK — School officials today began suspending pupils charged with criminal violence in an effort to rid classes of young hoodlums and "protect the innocent."

Spurred by new outbreaks of beating and stabbings, and under fresh pressure from a grand jury to take "prompt emergency action," the Board of Education ordered that any pupils "charged with a violation of law involving violence or insubordination shall be forthwith suspended from regular school attendance."

Preliminary unofficial estimates indicated up to 600 pupils might be affected.

THE SCHOOL BOARD was said to have adopted its new policy as the immediate result of two incidents Wednesday in which a school monitor was stabbed by a fellow student and another monitor was beaten unconscious by three other pupils.

The beating and stabbing were the latest incidents in a wave of teen-age violence that has included two rapes inside schools.

A few hours before the suspension order was issued, a grand jury that has been investigating school violence in Brooklyn handed up a fifth presentment critical of school policies in handling juvenile delinquency. The jury urged a broader policy on weeding out lawless youths from the schools and declared "prompt emergency action is necessary."

NOTING THAT a previous Board of Education statement had said less than one per cent of the school system's nearly one million pupils were problem children, the grand jury said "this means there are nearly 10,000 serious aggressive and disruptive children" menacing the remainder.

The jury suggested that existing schools "be used to contain these undesirable elements" without waiting for establishment of the six new special schools in which officials plan to segregate difficult pupils starting next fall. Five such schools containing 1,200 pupils are operating now.

The grand jury, which has been involved in a running fight with the school board over the school crime problem, announced Thursday that it expected to complete its investigations and make a final report soon.

Adlai Stevenson Plans Visit to Russia This Year

CHICAGO — The office of Adlai E. Stevenson announced the two-time Democratic presidential nominee will visit Russia for two of three weeks next summer to "educate himself" on conditions behind the Iron Curtain.

Stevenson's law office here said late Wednesday he would leave for England and Belgium late this spring on a business trip and then tour Scandinavia and Russia.

Stevenson visited Russia as a newspaper correspondent a short time after the Bolshevik revolution, but has not been in the country since then.

Cost of converting sea water to fresh water is reported to have been reduced from $1.50 to 60 cents per 1,000 gallons.

At this point, Poe posed a question directly to the Board of Supervisors: "I would like to know why the marshal's office in Riverdale has two paid clerks and several paid deputies when the Palm Springs Judicial District?"

Constable Poe ended his correspondence with a statement that he believed "the taxpayers should know both sides of the story so that they can judge the issue properly. My only interest is that the Palm Springs Judicial is served in the manner to which it is entitled."

3 Planes Make Emergency Stops After Warning

NEW YORK — Three Eastern Airline planes made emergency landings and about 21 others were delayed Thursday night because two anonymous callers warned that a "time bomb" had been placed aboard an airliner.

Emergency landings were made at Pittsburgh, Pa., Raleigh, N.C., and Baltimore, Md. after they were ordered to land at the nearest airport for searching.

Police, ground crews and FBI agents searched about 25 planes in all in what apparently was a hoax.

Police said an Eastern Airlines reservation clerk received a telephone call from a man who said "there is a bomb aboard one of your planes leaving tonight" and then hung up.

Crowd Acclaims Maria Callas

NEW YORK — Prima donna Maria Meneghini Callas gave a sizzling demonstration Thursday night of why opera fans and opera managements put up with her.

The fiery soprano sang and acted with stunning and surpassing art the role of Violetta, the heroine of Verdi's "La Traviata" at the Metropolitan Opera House. The overflow crowd responded with applause and cheers that drowned out the opening strains when the curtain rose, and called her back for 10 bows after the final curtain descended.

Air Authorities Of Two Nations Check Crash

MUNICH, Germany — British and German air authorities investigated today the crash of a plane which killed 21 persons — seven of them members of Britain's top soccer team.

The team was the "gold plated" Manchester United football team, the "Yankees" of British soccer, and the death of the seven players and injury to others plunged the British sports world into mourning.

THE TEAM, ALONG with 11 sportswriters and photographers was returning from a triumphant invasion of Yugoslavia when the plane crashed on a snow-covered field. Twenty-three of the 44 persons aboard the twin-engine "Elizabethan" airliner survived the crash.

Three persons were critically injured, including Matt Busby, England's top manager. Three Yugoslavs including a mother and her baby daughter en route to the embassy in London also survived.

CAUSE OF THE accident was unknown but authorities ruled out sabotage. The big plane which had made two false starts after a refueling stop faltered on the third, never gained altitude and then fell at the end of the runway and burst into pieces.

An investigating group led by British European Airways operations chief Anthony Milward flew here from London late Thursday night to learn why the plane faltered "on takeoff" and then slammed into two houses and burst into flames.

MILWARD, IN a midnight press conference at the Riem Airport, said the pilot, Capt. James Thains had twice turned back from takeoff because he was not satisfied with the power of the engines. Thains was only slightly injured.

Snow was falling as he made the third and fatal effort to send the plane into the air.

"After that we don't know what happened," Milward said, "and we are not yet certain that the aircraft ever became fully airborne."

ONE OF THE FEW witnesses, Hans Birnbaum, said he saw the plane coming at him very low but the low altitude did not impress him particularly because they all fly low around here.

Every player and official in some 50 major league soccer games scheduled in Britain on Saturday will wear a black armband in mourning for the Manchester players killed in the crash.

Flags will be kept at half staff at soccer grounds and players and spectators will observe two minutes silence before the games start.

CVSLA Marks New Record In Asset Gain

Coachella Valley Savings and Loan Association increased its assets by more than $1 million during the month of January, setting a new record in the Village firm's short history.

The record growth for a one-month period was reported at an association personnel meeting by William H. Smith, president and general manager.

New Student Incident Told At Little Rock High School

LITTLE ROCK Ark. — The parents of a white girl whom a Negro student called "petty white trash" refused today to let her return to Central High School where bomb threats and other incidents disrupted classes.

The name-calling and another clash involved Minnie Jean Brown, 16, a Negro student who had been involved in two previous incidents shortly before the Christmas holidays.

MINNIE JEAN was hit with a thrown purse Thursday after she called a white girl "petty white trash." Later a bowl of soup was poured over her head as she ate lunch in the cafeteria.

A group of white students followed the Negro girl to the principal's office after the soup pouring incident, chanting "down with the niggers."

IN DECEMBER, the Brown girl was suspended from school for pouring chili in two white students' laps. After she was reinstated, a white student, David Sontag, 16, poured soup over her head during a lunch period because she called him "poor white trash."

In another incident Thursday another Negro girl, Carlotta Walls, charged that white student Herbert Blount and "several other trouble-makers" kicked her in a corridor.

School Supt. Virgil T. Blossom confirmed the incidents, but would not release the names of the students involved.

BUT THE MOTHER of Frankie Gregg, 17, said it was her daughter who hit the Brown girl with her purse after the Negro student called her "petty white trash."

"My daughter is not returning to Central," Mrs. Gregg said. "I'm sending her to another school."

Police and school custodians searched the school building Thursday after three calls warning of a bomb were received.

Two of the calls were received at the school switchboard shortly after classes began. Later in the day, a television station received a "bomb call."

Lions Take Tour Of Vacation Lands in State

Palm Springs Lions Club members and guests, meeting in the Starlight Room of the Chi Chi Thursday noon, travelled into Baja, California, through Arizona and then through the fishing country, and the numerous lakes in the Sierras.

They took the trip via colored slides shown them by W. E. Thackrah, of the travel service department of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

Thackrah's topic was "California's Vacation Lands" and he showed pictures of fishing from the Gulf of California to the many lakes in the Sierras. Joe Henderson was program chairman for the day.

Special guests of the club were Forrest Baxter of Lemon Grove, district governor, and Francis Woods of Cathedral City, deputy district governor.

President Elmer Walberg presided at the luncheon.

Aly Khan Named UN Delegate

KARACHI, Pakistan — Pakistan today appointed Prince Aly Khan, 46, to be its permanent delegate to the United Nations.

Aly, former husband of Rita Hayworth, took the assignment barely two weeks after the installation of his son as the Aga Khan IV.

Prince Aly, long one of the chief figures of international society and a renowned horseman, will be following in the footsteps of his father, the late Aga Khan III, as he takes up his first official job.

The Aga Khan was long prominent in world diplomacy and at one time headed the League of Nations.

Freeholders Vote Five Man Board With Redistricting

Rapidly nearing the end of their proposed county charter, members of the Riverside County Board of Freeholders this week approved two important changes in the county's governmental structure.

The board unanimously approved a redistricting plan for five supervisorial districts in action at its 24th meeting.

In a more controversial session, the board voted seven-to-five in favor of scratching the names of constables from election ballots, placing the county officers under the jurisdiction of the sheriff's office.

THE REDISTRICTING plan, submitted last week by Norman J. Davis, of Beaumont, was accepted in preference to a seven-man board of supervisors previously considered by the Freeholders.

Designed to equalize population coverage and remove portions of three districts from Riverside, the redistricting map lists District I as the area from the Colorado River to Palm Springs, covering 18,017 voters.

District II consists of the Hemet and San Jacinto Valley and the San Geronimo Pass area, boasting 19,444 registered voters, while District III ranges south from Eastvale to Temecula and includes Perris, Alford, Home Gardens, Elsinore, Corona, La Sierra and Norco and holds 19,979 voters.

DISTRICT IV covers the south section of the City of Riverside, and includes Pachappa Hill and extends in a southeasterly direction to the edge of the city limits, covering an area with 19,834 voters.

The last district is the area in the northwest section of the county, running from Mira Loma on the west through Highgrove on the east. District V involves 19,873 voters.

THE PLAN WON unanimous board approval, but the proposal to remove constables from election ballots brought heavy opposition, principally sparked by Gordon Colonge, of Indio, and Davis.

Opponents felt that the action would be detrimental to the constables' duty of serving civil papers, but proponents successfully argued that the service would be improved if carried out under the sheriff's command.

Heed Traffic Signs, Signals, CHP Warns

Heed traffic signs and signals if you want to avoid troubles, warns the California Highway Patrol.

"Traffic signs and signals are definite aids to safe driving if they are obeyed," stated Patrol Commissioner B. R. Caldwell. "Drivers who habitually 'fudge' a little by slipping through a stop sign controlled intersection, jump traffic lights, keep the speed well above the posted limit in controlled areas and otherwise disregard traffic signs are frequently involved in traffic incidents, and accidents."

"Traffic signs are the result of studies showing a need for some type of control or direction to avoid congestion or potential accident situations," Caldwell said. "The Patrol enforces the regulations regarding these signs and signals as a cooperative action to insure the effectiveness of these devices."

"Drivers and pedestrians are urged to be alert for traffic signs and signals and prepared to obey them," he continued. "Proper respect for these safety aids will help keep traffic moving freely and with less possibility of accident."

Audience, Critic Acclaim Hollywood String Quartet

By R. G. MASON

As golfing fans flock to Championship matches, so music-lovers are ever on the trail of a really good string quartet; thus it was not surprising to find the Jewish Community Center well filled Sunday afternoon when the Hollywood String Quartet performed under the auspices of the Palm Springs Music Society.

These people have gained an extraordinary reputation through recordings; and are scheduled to open the Edinburgh Festival the summer of 1958.

THE HIGH POINT of the program was their performance of the Villa-Lobos Quartet No. 6 "In Brazilian Style," although from the moment they started with a Haydn Quartet it was evident to all present that here was a group who knew what they were about.

They play with perfect ensemble; they enjoy themselves; and they understand, and are able to communicate, the vocabulary of each composer. They have a particularly rich and varied tone, and at times — particularly in the Villa-Lobos — they seemed to have added woodwinds.

THE HAYDN Quartet in D minor, Opus 76, No. 2 was played in the manner of a lively conversation. This Quartet is full of contradictions: the Allegro, in a minor key, was nevertheless of a cheerful character, while the Allegretto, in a major key, was contemplative and somewhat wistful.

The Minuet came as a not-too-dignified but controlled court dance; and the final movement generated an exuberance which brought tumultuous applause from an electrified audience.

THE VILLA-LOBOS, as mentioned, came off with the greatest success. Although Villa-Lobos seem to compose in an abandoned and rhythmic style, he gives us a tightly-fashioned quartet which offers a comprehensive journey through many moods with great economy.

The Hollywood group recorded this quartet for Capitol Records, about ten years ago, and it would be interesting to compare the record with Sunday's performance. There can be no question that the musicians have matured to a point where they are able to give the music a superb, satisfying performance.

THE PROGRAM ended with an expert rendition of the Dvorak American Quartet. This music, although in itself romantic verging on the banal, was treated with great respect by the musicians.

As a rule, a string quartet is not called upon for encores, but Sunday's audience demanded a repeat of the Adagio of the Villa-Lobos. This movement is a perfect vehicle for the fine lyrical style of the players, their perfect ensemble, and the wide range of color and shading which are theirs.

MENTION SHOULD be made of the acoustics (perfect) and the surroundings (ideal) of the Jewish Community Center. It is the proper place for chamber music, and the Music Society must be commended for its choice of performers and auditorium.

It takes courage and generosity for an operation to bring music of this caliber to an area such as this, and we are grateful indeed to the Palm Springs Musical Society.

There Ought to Be a Law To Protect the Innocent

There ought to be a law. Perhaps there is, but if there isn't there should be and if there is, it should have real, hard-biting teeth put into it.

That is a law directed against the morbidly curious, the people who rush to a scene of a disaster to satisfy a macabre desire to see all of the shocking details first hand, just to be able to tell about it later with all the gory trimmings.

This law should provide heavy fines and/or jail sentences for those people who jam the highways, hamper the work of rescuers and are even responsible for the loss of life.

In that catastrophe last weekend when two airplanes collided in midair over a populous Southland suburb, at least two lives were sacrificed because of the morbidly curious who jammed highways just to be able to tell their friends later that they saw it first hand.

One ambulance carrying two badly injured survivors, was unable to reach a nearby hospital in time because of the jam of the automobiles of the curious. One man died in the ambulance, the other is so critically hurt that physicians say he has small chance.

A few minutes would have saved both, they say. But those few precious moments were lost because unthinking people had to see the tragedy first hand. It could happen here. It has almost happened here.

That's why there should be a law. A law slapping a heavy fine or even more stringent penalties on anyone who has no business at the scene of the disaster. No business except to satisfy an unhealthy desire.

In many cases, such as that of last weekend, these people are guilty of manslaughter. They blocked a man's chance to live.

If the curious, with an appetite for gore, knew that they were in line for a stiff penalty, perhaps they would think beforehand.

Any peace officer, any fireman, any ambulance driver, any doctor, can tell you—disaster victims would have a much better chance to survive if the reckless, thoughtless, curious could be curbed.

A few years ago there was a fire on the reservation. Even while the alarm was being sounded, the glare of the flames drew such a crowd of spectators, who were trapped in the twisting sandy roads, that the fire department was unable to maneuver its trucks into position to save the home. Fortunately there was no casualties.

The next time Palm Springs may not be that lucky.

The people who have no business at the disaster scene would be easy to cite. They would be trapped, like the ambulances, and unable to get away.

Only police, firemen, physicians, priests and ministers to give solace to the injured, rescue workers, should be allowed at the scene of a disaster. Also newspaper photographers and reporters who would provide the details for the curious.

The North-South Axis

WASHINGTON, D. C. — It wouldn't be hard to show that New England and the South, the axis of our Early American ways, are still the seedbeds of our serious political thinking. In the 85th Congress there are numerous matings of Yankee and Dixie statesmen to prove the point. For example:

The Senate's two representatives on the Commission on Government Security are Senators Norris Cotton (R., N.H.) and John Stennis (D., Miss.). One is raw of bone and twangy of voice. The other is compact, courtly, soft-spoken.

THEY SUBMITTED last June 21 a five-point program to protect the Federal Government from internal subversion. On one point they respectfully disagreed. Cotton favored wiretap evidence in Federal court cases. Stennis could not accept snoop-testimony even against subversives. Both positions are intellectually defensible.

These two Senators today have another point of contact — the textile business. New England, which is losing textile mills, and the Deep South, which is gaining them, both worry about the cheap-labor competition from the Far East. Last October and November Senator Cotton visited Japan, Formosa and Hong Kong to study the textile industries which are so troublesome to American mill owners and workers.

SENATOR COTTON'S contemplations, as befits serious statesmanship, approached the subject at a high level. The Eisenhower Administration is proposing a five-year extension of the Trade Agreements act, so-called "reciprocal" trading.

In the past, regular Republicans, like Norris Cotton, have been frank about the need for protection of American business and have tried to get it through restrictions, such as tariff points and import quotas. But it struck Mr. Cotton while in Japan that the Far East competition called for a more affirmative approach—specifically, some uplift of foreign wages and purchasing power among foreign workers.

IN JAPAN, THE Senator found the foreign competition was using the combination of ultra-modern machinery and last-century labor practices to under-price American mills. Japanese mill owners are the old families of imperialism and methods; Japanese trade unions are political agitation groups, not much interested in improving living and working standards. In fact, the unions may be interested in preserving low standards in order to keep the workers dissatisfied and explosive.

Mr. Cotton would like the reciprocal trade bill to contain an awareness of this situation. If feasible, he would like at least a American trade policy should encourage higher wages and higher purchasing power among the nations with which we do business. There should be some equity in buying-power between American and foreign workers in the textile trades.

IF THE EQUITY could be established, American mills would have no complaint about cheap-labor competition. And there would be much less excuse for the billions we spend for tribute and friendship — buying among needy foreigners.

Senator Stennis, whose state is caught in the perpetual farm depression, has to think both in terms of local subsistence and of high military policies. While he must watch everything that touches farm production and its derivatives, he is deeply involved in military affairs and their far-reaching implications.

MR. STENNIS is one of the Southern clique, including Senators Russell, Johnson and Byrd, who have given the President 60 days of grace to reorganize the Pentagon. Other Democrats are more impatient at the President's seeming failure after five years to take charge in his special field of military administration.

But there is a peculiar Southernness, I have felt, in the attitude or restraint toward the institution of the American presidency. It is a sacred vessel which should be handled with a most priestlike devotion. Any action by the Senate that even seems to desecrate the presidency would strike a trenchant blow at the vitals of our American system.

IF MR. EISENHOWER, given another two months with his new Secretary of Defense, can take charge as Commander in Chief — well and good. If not, there will be strong support by Senator Stennis and other Southerners for two middle ground propositions.

One would give the Chairman, Joint Chiefs of Staff, a vote which he does not now possess and which would greatly centralize his authority. The other would give the Defense Secretary a personal chief of staff, something close to the "button-pusher" in the strategy called massive retaliation.

The common quality of New England and the South is a marked concern for American self-interest. Both our business prosperity and our political institutions are the proper study of our statesmen.

— Holmes Alexander

And Now the Big Step

THIS SIDE of The Sun

By Phat

This is the week
We honor the Scout,
He's the lad we Can't do without.

Starting today and continuing through Thursday, Feb. 13, is Boy Scout Week.

IT WAS 48 years ago tomorrow that the Boy Scout movement got its start in the United States.

And in that 48 years, Scouting has been of great aid to our best product — the boys of today, the men of tomorrow.

I think it's time to consider this equation:

The boys of America are o.k.
That's despite what you read and hear these days.

THERE IS NOTHING wrong with the present generation. The exceedingly small percentage that runs amuck gets the headlines. The overwhelming majority who do not, do not make the headlines.

That's natural. News may be defined as something out of the ordinary.

So when you read stories about juvenile delinquents, it means that it's something out of the customary pattern.

SO THIS WEEK the nation honors the boys who live natural, good lives. And we can credit the 48-year-old Boy Scout organization for that.

Scouting has given our boys a natural outlet for their energies. And, in passing, give an accolade to the men who devote their time to Scouting, to see to it that the boys have their chance.

NOW, FOR A BIT of history. Sir Robert Baden-Powell of England gets the credit for the Boy Scout movement. He should, for he started it in London.

But it was a Chicago publisher who brought Boy Scouting to America. A half century ago William Boyce, Chicago newspaperman was standing, bewildered, on a sidewalk in London in a thick fog.

A SMALL BOY spoke to him and learning where he wished to go, guided him to his destination. Boyce offered the boy a coin and was told:

"A Scout never takes money for courtesy."

Boyce had that newspaperman's innate curiosity and questioned the lad who took him to Sir Baden-Powell. The Chicago publisher was so impressed by the program that when he came home he started the presses rolling.

THE UPSHOT was that on Feb. 8, 1910, 48 years ago tomorrow, Boyce had the organization chartered in the District of Columbia as the Boy Scouts of America.

In a park in London stands a bronze statue of a Buffalo, the gift of the BSA to their English cousins.

It is inscribed: "To the Unknown Boy Scout whose faithful performance of the 'Daily Good Turn' brought the Boy Scout movement to America."

So remember this week, and every other week of the year, that a Boy Scout is a Good Scout.

STAN DELAPLANE'S

Postcard

The best waiter in all Mexico is Don Jose, who serves, every day except Saturday, at the sidewalk tables of Penderas alongside the Plaza in Vera Cruz.

Don Jose is a model of efficiency. He advises the sweet little crayfish in butter. He tells me when the shrimps are freshest. He gives me his opinion on war and peace and religion. We are friends.

"Ah, ha, how many things does the simple waiter know?" he said tapping his head intelligently. "You did not know I am a student of history."

"ON THE CONTRARY, I saw at a glance a philosopher."

Now that we understand each other, Don Jose drops off pieces of intelligence as he passes. Under the portals in the warm, tronic night, there is a stream of traffic — street musicians, small boys selling chewing gum, the man with the big straw basket of shrimp, the lottery ticket sellers.

Don Jose holds the tray high and flings this thought to me:

"THE HOLLANDERS bought Manhattan Island for $24." This goes with a glance of triumph—"how do you like that?"

On the way back "Why did you withdraw the General Patton and let the Russos enter Berlin first? Ah, ha. How many things does the waiter know? I surprise you?"

"No, I observed immediately a man of education."

"The United States purchased Louisiana for $3,000,000."

"I READ CONSTANTLY," said Don Jose when the evening rush died down. "History is my true love. For you understand, I was, not always a waiter."

"I am a Spaniard, a Barcelona," said the waiter. "I was with the 43rd Division — an assault division against Franco. When Spain fell to the dictator, I escaped into France. I had been in the Regular Army. There was no future in Spain."

"However, I am a man of iron will. After six months in France,

I came to Mexico. It is necessary to go ahead — not like when you withdrew General Patton from Berlin. That was a political and military mistake.

"DID I TELL you how I gave up smoking?"

"Please tell me."

"It is a matter of will power," said Don Jose. "One day I said to my wife, 'Tomorrow I will give up smoking.' At the time I smoked several large cigars a day. I had two boxes of them in my writing desk. But the next day, as I said, I gave it up. I have not smoked for eight years."

"Congratulations. Let me ask you a question. Was it difficult?"

"NOT AT ALL," SAID Don Jose. I began eating Lifesavers. I ate ten sometimes 15 packages a day. I bought them at the stand around the corner. One day I said to the girl, 'Maria, tomorrow I will give up Lifesavers.' She said, 'I do not believe you can do it.'"

"The next day I gave up Lifesavers! It is a matter of will power."

"You are a powerful man."

"After that," said the waiter, "I took up chewing gum. I chewed and chewed — sometimes ten packages a day. You understand I had the nervousness of the war. When I served coffee, my hands rattled the plates."

"And now you chew gum?"

"NOT I," SAID Don Jose triumphantly. "One day I said, 'Tomorrow I give up chewing gum.' Nobody believed it. Next day I threw all my gum away?"

"So now you have no vices?" I said.

"Ah," said the waiter, "now it is chocolate bars."

"He reached in his pocket and drew out a bar and bit into it. 'Now I am mad for chocolate bars. I eat them and eat them with a passion.'"

"But," said the waiter, "some day I shall give them up. Always go forward. Never withdraw. I was an officer of an assault division. One must have the will."

EARL WILSON:

Lifetime Job for Bellamy?

NEW YORK — Ralph Bellamy could conceivably be playing F.D.R. the rest of his life.

After he portrayed Franklin D. Roosevelt so believably in the "Sunrise at Campobello" premiere, he told me he wants to do the show also "in England and all over the world"—and then there's Hollywood.

Producer-author Dore Schary may have in this show a Hollywood comeback. MGM, which once pulled the rung out from under him, will hardly get this for a movie: "I'll produce it myself," he said. And, he hopes, with Bellamy playing the big role.

To me one of the best exchanges was between "Eleanor" and "Louis McHenry Howe" when Eleanor Mary Fickett says: "I don't like to reach a speech." Howe Henry Jones says, "D'you think the Gettysburg Address was ad libbed?"

Bellamy, a native of Chicago, told me he's been a Democrat all his life: "I finally bolted, though, to vote for Eisenhower."

After the Pat Boones had their fourth daughter, Eddie Cantor wired, "There's nothing wrong with girls. I married one and had five more." And Red Foley, father of Mrs. Boone, and now grand father of six girls and no boys, phoned his daughter and said, "Oh, Shirley, no, no, NO!"

Gorgia Moll, the Italian beauty appearing in the film "Quiet American," is convinced that a bikini doesn't have as much sex appeal as the costumes worn by the women of Saigon where she shot the picture.

There's some mystery about Greta Thyssen leaving the Jan Murray "Treasure Chest" show, but evidently (1) she's been sick since being hit by a truck and (2) she didn't care for her small role. The program bosses liked her and she could've stayed on. Her El Morocco escort the other a.m. was Quizmaster Jack Barry who said, "This girl's been treated badly—she needs help." So saying he helped her into the back seat and got in beside her. B'way Dialog: "Where you going?" Groucho Marx asked us. "We want to drop in and see Toots Shor." "I saw him yesterday," snapped Groucho. "I can't stand to look at him two days in succession."

Clark Gable gets half-a-million regardless of how "Run Silent, Run Deep" does, in his smart deal with Hecht-Hill-Lancaster. Marilyn Monroe's redecorated apt. will have a soundproof office for Arthur Miller. "Fair Game," the Sam Locke play which his ex-girl friend claims she helped write, was just sold to Columbia Pictures for $200,000. A couple of the music critics are said to be sharpening their typewriters for Maria Callas because of remarks on the Murrow Person to Person show.

Bing Crosby—a guy with class—wrote to me (and doubtless other columnists) thanking me for mentioning his Pebble Beach TV show, adding, "I'm impelled to admit it was not the sparkling success I had promised you it was going to be. Happily, we learned an awful lot about what to do and what not to do, and if we televise from there again next year, I promise it will be much better."

Bing's singing sister—in law, Florence George (Everett's wife) owns a small "Woolly" monkey which sits in a high chair, wears baby clothes and is housebroken. She takes it on concert tours with her, and it's as well behaved as some of the audience. It loves whisky, and after a couple of snorts goes right to sleep.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: After calypso and rock 'n' roll, Robt O. Lewis figures the public's ready for a new trend—something like music, for instance.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Comic Jack Herbert complains there's a thief backstage—someone stole all the towels he'd taken from hotels.

In any argument, it takes a big man to admit he's wrong—and it takes a bigger man to make him admit it. That's earl, brother.

MIKE CONNOLLY:

Ritz Brothers Break Records?

HOLLYWOOD — The Ritz Brothers mailed me a bundle of broken phonograph records from Miami Beach with this note: "NOW will you believe us when we tell you we've broken all records at the Fontainebleau!?"

"Compulsion" is still one of Broadway's biggest boxoffice blockbusters but it will have to move Feb. 22 from Broadway to Chicago because the Shuberts, who own the theatre where it's lining 'em up at the ticket wickets, want it for another show they're bringing in.

"MISS ISOBEL," Shirley Booth's little bomb, is moving too, tomorrow (Feb. 8) to the warehouse. Meaning it's a flop, El Foldo. . . . Shirley's moving out but her ex-fiance, Frank Milan, is moving in — in Leland Hayward's new show, "Who Was That Lady I Saw You With?"

MGM has sent eight "Some Came Running" scripts to eight top stars, and strictly because the James Jones story has eight top star roles. . . . Sighted on Sunset, Scribbled Same in My Handy-Dandy Notebook: Bette Davis and Gary Merrill, dashing out of the Chateau Marmont in their nightshirts to watch the firemen douse some flames in the hostelry.

PRINCESS GRACE and Prince Rainier expect their baby about St. Patrick's Day and if he's a boy will be Prince Pat Kelly-Rainier? . . . Pat Boone, and here's a real crazy situation, has actually made more money out of his recording of "April Love" than he made out of the movie. Danny Thomas's telegram to Shirley and Pat Boone when their baby was born: "Congratulations and long life to the new little princess and isn't it wonderful what April Love can bring?"

How Far Behind Can You Get? Item: Tokyo's annual National Art Festival will show "the four most typical U. S. movies"—and these are the typical movies the Festival's film committee asked us to send them: "The Iron Horse," made in 1926; "The Mark of Zorro," 1921; "Tolable David," 1922; and Thomas A. Edison's "Uncle Tom's Cabin," 1903.

PAUL MUNI RETURNS to Hollywood for his first movie in years — the co-starring spot opposite Glenn Ford in Columbia's "The Last Angry Man" . . . If Spencer Tracy can't make it, Curt Jurgens will play Marilyn Monroe's prev in Fox's "Blue Angel" remake. Marlene Dietrich and Emil Jannings made the original.

I introduced Barbara Nichols to Rock Hudson at the opening of a new Hollywood nightspot called the Lazy Susan as follows: "Rock, this is Barbara Nichols — she plays half the title role in 'The Naked and the Dead." Whereupon Barbara batted her big blue orbs in the direction of another guest at the affair, Lili St. Cyr (who also happens to be playing the striptease gal in "The Naked and the Dead"), and cracked, "Yeah, Rock, that's right — I'M DEAD when Lili's in front of the camera!"

TV TOPICS — Polly Bergen and her husband, Freddie Fields, adopted a baby — a two-month old girl named Pamela Kerry Fields. They call her "P. K." (or, if you wanna be French about the whole thing) "Pique" for short.

The first segment of MGM-TV's Silent Service series is a real rootin' tootin' Fig Newton of a tongue-twister "Archerfish Spits Straight" . . . Myrna Fahy, singled out for a single guest shot on the Burns and Allen show, was so good they've signed her on as a regular little ol' regular in the series — as Ronnie Burns's girl friend.

I ASKED ANN Rutherford if she will accept the bids here-ceived to play Mickey Rooney's wife in the Andy Hardy Comes Home series (Ann played Mickey's girl friend in the original "Hardy" pictures at MGM, way back when the world was young). Said she: "How can I be Mrs. Andy Hardy when I've already got a fulltime job as Mrs. Bill Dozier?"

Aaron Spelling turned his story, "The Starlet," into a Playhouse 90. . . . Elich Moll turned his Playhouse 90, "The Gentleman from 7th Avenue," into a story. Matter of fact, Moll's is a June Book-of-the-Month Club choice.

DALE ROBERTSON, NBC-TV's Wells Fargo man, tells me too many TV cowboys know nothing at all about riding horses. "If you see a guy settin' on the rear end of a horse," Robertson reports, "you just know he's a city boy. A horse's kidneys are back there — and don't think the animal isn't hurtin'!"

Seems silly to be but Andy Devine backed away from a $10,000 offer to film three ready-mix cake telecommercial just because he was afraid his Wild Bill Hickock cereal sponsor would kick because of product conflict.

TOMMY RETTIG, a big boy now and at loose ends following his release from CBS-TV's Lassie series, lopes into TV's Big Time Monday (Feb. 10) when he joins Anne Francis, E. G. Marshall, James Gregory and Bethel Leslie in "Presence of the Enemy" on Studio One.

Russ Tamblin's titter "How about those Russians, standing around staring at Khrushchev, with Liz Taylor in the same room — so THAT's what they mean by Red Square!"

With the desert's recent bath, spring blossoms will soon begin to show themselves for all to enjoy. The area is blossoming in other ways too, as the season swings into high gear. From our restful atmosphere springs excitement, entertainment, fashions and ideas unlikened anywhere else.

Travel ideas are growing in the minds of many as Dr. Pervy reveals the things in store for those planning to be included in the next PERVY TOUR. This is not strange as you begin to realize that each day is an event and includes so much that an ordinary tourist misses.

FOR INSTANCE, of the the highlights is the traditional California-Rauenberg event initiated by Dr. Pervy. On this day members of his group visit the typical little German village for reasons of understanding and appreciating German people as they actually live and work.

Their arrival has been anticipated for days and housewives start early to bake "prune tarts" for the Californians to enjoy. The fare upon arrival includes the chorus master directing his young voices in songs of welcome — a very young girl recites a poem — and the mayor delivers his message.

THE ENTIRE DAY is shared with the villagers, and visits are made to the factory, the mill, bakery, butcher and homes. There is a luncheon followed by dancing and a banquet fit for a king in the evening. By the time the bus pulls away from this little town nestled between two large vineyard covered hills, there is seldom a dry eye in the group. This is surely the United Nations functioning at its most efficient level.

I hope you can be one of the passengers on that bus, why don't you call Dr. Pervy at FA 4-2637 and discuss it with him? Incidentally, his classes in conversational French begin Feb. 25 and registration is on Feb. 15 from 10 to 12 a.m. and 2 to 4 p.m. (211 South Palm Canyon - office No. 4)

LOVING GIFTS for your Valentine are a-plenty at SU-YIN'S. If that someone happens to be small — a Happi Coat would be just the thing! They are darling little coats to be worn over a swim suit as a robe, or even "out." They are Japanese in design and made of fine cotton which is hand washable.

Your true love will love one of Sue's luxurious Chinese lounging jackets. They are hand-made in the shop and distinguish themselves in precious fabrics such as Chinese silk damask or Italian silk. You can have them either fully lined or unlined as you prefer, but however, the tiny stitches and infinite care with which they are made will give the jacket an appeal seldom found.

EVEN THE FROGS are fashioned by hand and there is a mandarin collar, easy wrist length sleeves, and the typical slit side detail.

Banker's Coats, so wonderful to have and wear, can also be made to order of the same fabrics as the jacket and in a range of colors. Whether up early in the morning or hosting a Banker's coat will always show you at your best. (134 East Tahquitz across from the Library)

BURSTING WITH spring freshness at ROBINSON'S is a dress which will surely find its niche in your wardrobe. Presenting the "pretty look," it is flattering with its loose fit, and so comfortable to wear. Right for the season, it is white, and as is often the case — white is a most colorful color — especially when it is coupled with cornflower blue.

In this case the skirt is sheath-like with tiny unpressed tucks at the waistline . . . rising above, the bodice is softly fitted.

The most important feature is the blue deep yoke with its scattered bead and lace trim. The fabric is flax spun linen, first choice for the fashion season ahead. This dress introduces a long line of designs with just you, your carefree sun days and starry evenings in mind. (333 South Palm Canyon Drive) Advertisement

Jewish Music Month to Be Marked Here

The observance of Jewish Music Month will be the occasion for a most unusual excursion on the next four Sabbath evenings into the different types of Synagogue music heard in America from the period of the Revolutionary War to the current date, at the Jewish Community Center, 332 West Alejo Road.

This evening at 8:15, Cantor Halpern and the choir under the direction of Harry Tomlinson will present the "Music of the Sephardic Synagogue." The service, based primarily on the Sacred Service of Salmone Rossi (1570-1628) will portray the musical trends of the Sephardic (Spanish, Portuguese and Italian) Jews, first settlers on the American Continent.

The Friday evenings following this service will feature music heard in the early Reform Temples, music of Eastern Europe, particularly the Hassidim and the music of today's composers for the Contemporary Synagogue.

Russia Has Learned Policy Toward Finland Has Paid Off

By A. E. PEDERSEN JR.

United Press Staff Correspondent
HELSINKI (UP)—Whatever the merits or drawbacks of the Soviet plan for troop withdrawals of East and West from Central Europe, the fact remains that a militarily neutralized area already exists in Europe. It is Finland.

Finland does not belong to NATO. She turned down an invitation to join the Warsaw Pact. There are no foreign troops on Finnish soil. And Finland has managed to retain friendship with East and West through an uneasy postwar period.

SOVIET DIPLOMATS have privately admitted that they would have had more friends if they had treated Central Europe as they treated Finland.

The price for peace with Russia in 1944 was a heavy one—a reparations bill equal to a full year's Finnish government budget; loss of 10 per cent of her territory, almost half a million persons to be resettled; drastic cuts in armed strength, and the uncertainty of what lay ahead.

The Leningrad military district continues to send amateur spies across the border, and the Finns just as regularly arrest them and apply one or two-year jail terms.

FINLAND IS shunned by Iron Curtain refugees who know Finnish authorities would have to send them back if picked up. Finnish-Soviet trade is regulated by five-year pacts.

Reliance on God Is Key to Security, Nence Christian Science Lecturer Tells Audiotaped

PALM DESERT — Humanity's need for security will be met not by reliance on material things but by growth in spiritual understanding of God, Louise S. Karpen of New York City told an audience here Thursday.

Dependence on material possessions has disappointed hope and shattered expectancy, Mrs. Karpen declared, emphasizing that true security is essentially a spiritual experience.

People are apt to believe that the size of a problem can limit the power of God, "but nothing is impossible with God, she declared. "The rule and its perfection of operation never vary in Science," she said quoting from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy.

COMMENTING ON problems associated with aging, she declared that man's security from decrepitude, from a sense of usefulness, or from a lessening of opportunity, found in the understanding of God and of man's relationship to Him.

PAINTED HILLS RANCHO, a barren, undeveloped patch of homestead land in 1949, is today a bustling community of more than 50 homes and is well on its way towards becoming a full-fledged desert city. Located a few miles northwest of Palm Springs, covering the mountain foothills that form a gateway to the resort area, Painted Hills started as a 320-acre homestead tract and has grown into a cooperative project of eager residents. Rancho residents, who come from all parts of the United States, even carved out their own roads to provide access to their booming development. (Desert Sun Photo)

'Painted Hills' Is Preparing For Future As City

Springing up without fanfare on mountain slopes marking the gateway to the Palm Springs resort area is a patchwork community soon destined to emerge from its own dust as the desert's newest town.

In fact, if its 92 persistent citizens have anything to say about it, "Painted Hills Rancho" is going to be nothing less than a full-fledged, incorporated city.

PAINTED HILLS—named for the mineral-tipped foothills that form its foundation—covers 480 once barren acres, counts 54 completed homes and represents nine years of waterless, powerless progress.

"They said we could never do it," mused Mrs. Lena Adams, surveying the vista of new buildings spotting the rolling countryside located about 2,000 feet above and some eight miles northwest of Palm Springs.

"But we were determined that we were going to make this a new city," she said.

MRS. ADAMS, Painted Hills Association chairman and secretary, and her husband, Charles, were among the first to establish homesteads in the area when Uncle Sam opened the land to veterans in 1949.

But the veterans took one look at this apparently worthless wasteland and spurned the offer. It was then opened to civilians who had different ideas.

The government offered 320 acres for leasing, at an annual rental of $5. If, after three years, the land was improved and a qualified cabin built, the lessee could buy the parcel for $20.

Today, if you're lucky, you might buy a lot for $4,000.

IN SUBSEQUENT years, the government added two 80-acre segments to the original section and all 480 acres were eventually taken over by eager homesteaders.

Homesteaders were required to build cabins covering at least 400 square feet and constructed according to strict standards.

They were left to their own devices for the development of water, power and streets.

"We invested at least $10,000 in two wells," Mrs. Adams ruefully recalled, "but both of them were failures."

THEN JOHN ROBINSON, of Rancho Ramon Water Company came to the rescue and his offer to pipe in the precious stuff was quickly accepted. The pipes are in and the water's flowing, Mrs. Adams reported.

Three years of negotiation for power ended last week when crews from California Electric Power Company started stringing wire on poles recently installed throughout Painted Hills.

"We had to cut out the road ourselves, though," Mrs. Adams said. "They're only dirt roads now, but they'll be paved when we become a real city."

CITIFICATION is a serious project to the Painted Hills residents, a dream that includes 21 of the original lessees. They're now looking for suitable retail enterprises.

However, Mrs. Adams pointed out that Painted Hills is not a promotion enterprise. She ex-

Later the same day, while on an alternate job a deputy sheriff, he rode a fire engine to his home and watched it burn to the ground.

CHECKING NEW PIPELINES carrying water to the flourishing Painted Hills Rancho is Mrs. Lena Adams, who sparkplugged a three-year campaign to bring water and electric power to the rapidly growing homestead area. Mrs. Adams, one of the pioneers for what may become the desert area's newest town, reported that telephone lines are going up in Painted Hills this week. (Desert Sun Photo) plained that the development is a cooperative development and noted that all the lessees are pitching in.

As it stands today, Painted Hills is a good distance away from its days as a haphazard area dotted by homestead shacks. Some of the new buildings are luxurious hilltop homes, boasting the most beautiful views of the desert area.

"OUR OWN HOUSE is still in its cabin form," Mrs. Adams lamented. Still living in her Palm Springs home, Mrs. Adams hopes her husband, an expert Village carpenter, can get around to working on his hillside home.

"He's so busy helping other people build their houses at Painted Hills that he doesn't have time to work on ours," she explained.

City Acquires 3 More Grant Deeds on Indian

City Attorney Jerry Bunker and Administrative Assistant Richard DeLong reported this week to the City Council that they had successfully obtained three more grant deeds from property owners along North Indian Avenue.

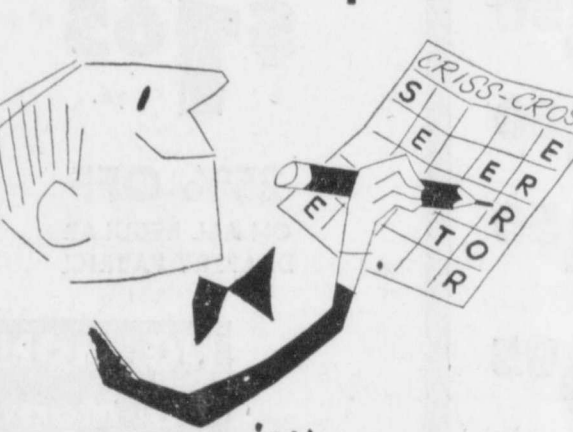

The city is attempting to acquire grant deeds from property owners on both sides of North Indian Avenue between Paseo El Mirador to Vista Chino so that it can proceed with gas tax funds to widen the important north-south street.

The additional three grant deeds brings the total to 19 of the 30 property owners, and adds 180 feet to the amount that has already been acquired.

The council hope to approve contracts for the widening of the street by this summer, but unless the grant deeds are given to the city, the council will have to proceed with work on another street.

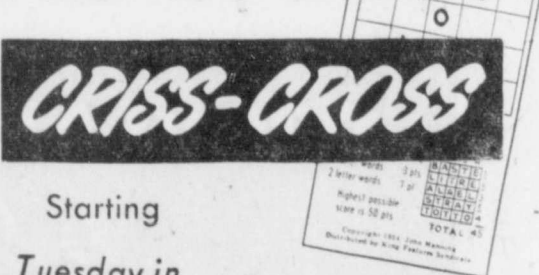

The Devil's Current surges through the Bosphorus, the historic and Asian Turkey, at six miles an hour. Beneath the surface, the National Geographic magazine says, a counter-current of saltier water flows in the opposite direction.

Thousand Palms Chamber Backs New Water Plan

THOUSAND PALMS — Members of the Thousand Palms Chamber of Commerce this week announced their support of Rancho Ramon Water Company's plan to irrigate a proposed Highway 99 sandstorm windbreak.

The chamber went on record in favor of the plan to supply water for the planting of windbreaks and vegetation to block winds that blast sand across a 10-mile section of the highway.

Rancho Ramon Water Company last week submitted the plan to the State Highway Department, claiming that the proposal would reduce costs and expedite planting of the windbreaks.

Survey of School Children Links Juvenile Eye-Strain and Watching of Television

By DELOS SMITH
United Press Science Editor
NEW YORK — A survey of 19,290 school children produced a statistical connection between juvenile eye-strain and TV watching.

The connection was strong enough for the public health scientist who made the survey to recommend that in our TV age, all children should have routine vision tests "at least" twice a year.

The survey was made in Cardiff, Wales, and was noteworthy because it was the first anywhere that was large enough to have statistical meaning.

DR. A. H. GRIFFITH, health officer of the city of Cardiff, divided the kids into two groups—those from homes with TV and those from homes without TV. The numbers involved were large enough to create a presumption that if TV watching caused no eye-strain, cases of recognizable eye strain would total about the same in each group. He then counted the glasses-wearers. In all, more TV kids wore glasses than TV-less kids, but the difference was not enough to be "significant" statistically. When the children were sub-divided into age groups, a "statistical significance" appeared among those 10 years old and older, and this was markedly increased in the group among children 11 years old and older.

HE POINTED OUT that normally the growing eye-balls of children have a tendency toward near-sightedness. In his opinion children up to the age of eight "can usually cope with eye-straining conditions without the optical efficiency of their eyes being impaired," but in children over eight, eye strain can "accelerate and exaggerate" the near-sighted tendency.

In TV-watching, he said, eye muscles undergo physical strain because "they are continuously endeavoring to adjust the optical system in order that a clear, easily interpreted image may be received on the retina. The visual object may be blurred, moving, flickering, or badly illuminated."

TV RECEPTION in Cardiff is good, he said, because the transmitting tower is no more than 10 miles removed from any set in the city. He acknowledged that his survey fell short of proving that "television viewing does affect children's vision."

"But," he added, "the indirect evidence suggests this may be so. If we are to accept the findings at their face value then the effect of television viewing on children's eyesight is a serious matter."

HE FELT THAT "the only explanation" for the survey results was that "many of the older school children watch television so often, so long and under such adverse conditions that it causes eye strain sufficient to impair the vision of some of them."

Holstein Predicts Great Future Growth in Desert Area; Current Development Is Valley of the Sun

Complete confidence in the Desert as a way of living for thousands of Americans was expressed by builder and developer George M. Holstein today.

Current Holstein development here is Valley of the Sun Estates, adjoining Tamarisk Country Club. Here is being offered the ultimate in relaxed desert living.

two-bath homes are all architect designed, and combine home, patio and pool into one liveable unit for all-season enjoyment. Features are: Pool with every home; five-ton refrigeration; forced-air heating; fireplaces; sliding glass doors to patio and pool; matched colors in kitchen with built-in range, oven and dishwasher.

A furnished model by Vee Nisley Studio, is open for inspection daily and Sunday. Total price, which includes a generous sized homesite, is $31,750. Several models are currently under construction in the first unit. A total of 107 homesites will be available as selling progresses at Valley of the Sun Estates.

THE HOLSTEIN organization is also currently building and selling two residential developments in the Anaheim area. Also recently announced by the firm was a new 1,100 multi-million dollar apartment project under FHA title 7, at Loma Palisades, San Diego.

Holstein declared that the latter area is now a beehive of activity and work related to the fast breaking missile program. Many of the prime and sub-contractors are located in this San Diego area.

HE HAS JUST recently completed an extensive tour of the United States and Hawaii and believes that the nation is on the verge of the greatest residential construction boom in history. This belief was also mirrored at the recent Builder's Convention in Chicago by many of the nation's top builders, which Holstein attended while on his trip across the country.

"The firm is investing heavily in the future of all sections of Southern California," Holstein concluded.

Roaster Bakes, Boils, Fries Too

The next time you get an all-of-a-sudden urge to have a party, just bring out your roaster and phone your friends.

Whether you invite ten or twenty people, this versatile, portable electric cooker will hold enough food to satisfy the most ravenous appetites. And what is just as important, it permits you to join the fun while the food keeps hot.

NEW MEDALLION HOME program inaugurated throughout the nation to guarantee the electrical worth of a new home to the home buyer, was explained at a meeting of Desert area builders and contractors at Desi Arnaz' Western Hills Hotel. Above, discussing the program are, left to right, Hugh Koptur of Palm Springs; Russell Henry Jr., domestic sales representative for California Electric Power Company, and Thor Frederickson of Palm Springs. ### Grape Vines Advised for Patio Corners

Grape vines make wonderful patio covers for three reasons: they produce tasty table fruit; give thick shade in summer and let the winter sunshine through for warmth in cool weather. Rapid growth is another reason for their use.

The California Association of Nurserymen suggest that local nurserymen be consulted on the adaptability of various table grape varieties in local areas.

SEVERAL POPULAR table grape varieties are famed for their ability to be trained over an arbor or patio cover. These include Black Hamburg, Red Malaga, Rish Baba Ribier, Thompson Seedless and Scarlet. Thompson Seedless is California's best known table and raisin grape and it produces in very heavy bunches.

Careful planting instructions should be obtained from local nurserymen. While these rules are not complicated they are slightly different from the procedure followed in planting most shrubs and trees. Much more of the plant is placed below the surface of the ground. It should be watered to the same depth as it was in the nursery.

ANNUAL PRUNING of grape vines is done in late winter or early Spring when the vines are completely dormant. According to the age of the bearing vine, the number of fruit buds should be limited to from 30 to 100. This will insure good quality fruit. Each bud produces two bunches of luscious grapes.

Special mention should be made of the grape's need for abundant sunlight. Usually placement on a patio roof insures this since the purpose of the patio cover is to protect from the sun's glare. If, however, the patio has been placed especially to protect from morning or late afternoon sun, the home owner should consider carefully whether the vine will receive sufficient sunlight to ensure a juicy crop of grapes.

Emperor Is All-America Gladiolus for '58

The term "All-America" might be confused with the award given to husky athletes but although we are still referring to champions, the term is "All-America," not "All American." "All - America" refers to the champions of the horticultural field and these can be roses, carnations or for our present purposes, gladiolus.

The 1958 All-America Gladiolus Selection is Emperor, increasing to a total of five the awards made since the selection board was founded, notes the California Association of Nurserymen. The other winners were Royal Stewart (medium red), Appleblossom (pink and white), Caribbean, (truffled blue) and Maytime (deep pink with white throat).

Medallion Home Program Inaugurated at Luncheon

A nation-wide program to guarantee the electrical worth of a new home to the home buyer and to establish a hallmark of excellence in electrical living for builders of new homes was unveiled for Desert resort area builders and architects this week at Desi Arnaz' Western Hills Hotel.

Sponsored by California Electric Power Company, the meeting was attended by about 70 from Desert Hot Springs, Palm Springs, Cathedral City, Rancho Mirage and Palm Desert.

R. S. HENRY, JR., Cal electric representative for the program in this area, told guests that it is called the Live Better — Electrically Medallion Home program and that by virtue of national and local promotion will acquaint the prospective home buyer with the electrical living features that he should expect to find in any new home.

New-home projects in this area that meet the requirements will receive a Live Better — Electrically Medallion to be affixed to the inside or outside of the home.

'Emotional Discomfort' May Cause Home Remodel Urge

If you want to remodel your house and don't know exactly why, the reason may be "emotional discomfort."

A leading architect blames this condition on houses of materials and design that are desolate and cheerless.

THE NATIONAL Lumber Manufacturers Association has some suggestions for remedying this problem — labeled by the architect as living in "an emotional draft."

If the house is planned with too much "open living," you can introduce a cozier sense of shelter by installing high room dividers of attractively stained or painted wood.

IF THERE'S TOO much glare or coldness from large glass areas you can subdue the harshness of the light and warm up the room with wood paneling. Wood shutters outside, or wood blinds inside, also contribute to a feeling

Gardener's Checklist

1. Continue bare root planting, checked occasionally to prevent them from drying out.
2. Attractive roses available for the first time this season include Isobel Harkness, White Knight, Sterling Silver, Aztec, Starlet, Fusilier and Gold Cup. They should be ordered early.
3. Bulbs in storage should be checked occasionally to prevent them from drying out.
4. Peach and nectarine trees should be sprayed this month to prevent or protect against peach leaf curl.
5. Pruning is a project which can be continued into February.

THERE OUGHTA BE A LAW

Today's Sport Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK — This was an hour out of Tokyo and, with the big Stratocruiser bouncing like a ping pong ball in a washing machine, even the crew was strapped down.

Enroute to the Canada Cup matches in Japan, Jimmy Demaret looked across the aisle at ash-faced Sammy Snead and then, with a pea green grin, exploded:

"Man, that Lindbergh got eight days of confetti for less than this!"

But, as Demaret summed it up later, "it's the only way to fly." And the need to get swiftly from one far-flung competitive scene to another makes flying a must in the sports world today—even if many of the athletes don't like it.

MANY OF THEM probably like it less as result of the Munich crash Thursday which decimated the famed Manchester United soccer team. It's a risk which major league baseball has taken into consideration by formulating a "disaster plan." The plan provides that each surviving club submit a list of 12 players from which the club involved in such a catastrophe can buy any or all to field a new team.

Air crashes have taken the lives of such athletic personalities as Knute Rockne, all-Americans Nile Kinnick and Calvin Jones, boxer Marcel Cerdan and tennis champ Joe Hunt.

DON NEWCOMBE, the Dodger pitcher, swore after the team's trip to Japan that he would never fly again. Someone once suggested to him that it wasn't as bad as walking to the mound with the bases loaded.

"You can walk off the mound," Newk commented succinctly.

But when the Dodgers bought their own plane and their shift to the Coast made flying a must, Newcombe underwent a hypnosis "to save my baseball career." He claims that it worked and that now he enjoys flying.

BACK IN THE DAYS when Eddie Dyer managed the Cardinals and they traveled in two planes, Eddie always rode in the one carrying Stan Musial.

"If anything happens to him," Eddie asserted, "I don't want to have to be around to manage the Cardinals."

Conn McCreary is another philosopher. We took a plane out of LaGuardia for the Kentucky Derby and they had trouble starting the engines. Conn had been out of action, in tough luck and was battling for a riding comeback.

"The way my luck's been running," he said quietly, "We're a cinch to crash."

Callazo Favored Against Lopes

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — Substitute Damaso Callazo of Havana, Cuba, was a surprising 7-5 favorite today to beat lightweight contender Joey Lopes of Sacramento, Calif., in tonight's nationally televised 10-round bout at Syracuse War Memorial Auditorium.

Callazo got the nod from the oddsmakers for the bout because of his sharp punching and despite Lopes' sixth-ranking in the lightweight class.

Callazo, 29, will be filling the shoes of fifth-ranked contender Paolo Rosi who bowed out Wednesday because of an injured right heel.

Fight Results

REVERE, Mass.—Joe de Nucci, 16½, Newton, Mass., knocked out Charley Washington, 16½, New York, 4.

LOS ANGELES—Gil Cadilli, 128, San Francisco, knocked out Enrique Hank Aceves, 128½, Los Angeles, 7.

San Jacinto, Indians Meet Here Tonight

Warriors Favored to Take 2

San Jacinto High's basketball teams, seventh in Varsity competition in the Riverside County League and last in the Bee Division, come to Palm Springs tonight to meet the local Varsity and Bee teams. The Bee teams clash at 7 p.m. and the Varsity meet in the nightcap.

San Jacinto has a 2-6 record in the Varsity program and is also 2-6 in the Bee ranks. Palm Springs is 4-4 in both Varsity and Bee divisions.

IN THEIR FIRST clash in the opening round of the double round robin schedule, the Varsity defeated San Jacinto 53 to 51 in an overtime session while the Bees won almost as they pleased, 41-26. Those games were played in the San Jacinto floor.

Palm Springs is favored to take both games.

AGAINST THE SAME teams, the Indians have scored 402 points while allowing 384, for a 50.2-45.4 average. San Jacinto has scored 326 and allowed 385 for a 40.7-48.1 average.

The Bees have counted 362 and were scored upon for 315, a 44.2-39.3 average while San Jacinto's Bees have scored 221 against 288 for their opponents, a 27.6-36.0 average.

IN OTHER GAMES tonight Beaumont (3-5 Varsity and 7-1 Bees) goes to Hemet (0-8 Varsity and 4-4 Bees, Elsinore, (6-2 Varsity and 3-5 Bees) goes to Banning, (6-2 Varsity and 3-5 Bees) with Perris, (3-5 Varsity and 4-4 Bees) going to the league-leading Coachella Arabs (8-0 Varsity and 5-3 Bees.)

Tuesday night Palm Springs entertains second-place Banning here, next Friday goes to Elsinore, then Beaumont on February 18, entertains Hemet here on February 21 and winds up the season at Perris February 25, or earlier if it can be arranged, said Coach Jim Workman.

Laurie's Loses At Last--But it Was By Default

Laurie's Steak Ranch finally lost a game in the City Basketball League—but not on the floor. Scheduled to meet Bonnie Electric Thursday night in the first game of a double-header, they couldn't muster five players at game time and so lost by default. It was their first loss in 11 City League games.

In the second game, Smoke Tree Stables scored a 60-34 win over Banning. Wayne Klines of Smoke Tree, scored 24 and his teammate, Art Estelle, 21. Red Haynes was high for Banning with 14.

American Skiers Hold Slim Chance

BAD GASTEIN, Austria — Sally Deaver of Philadelphia and Bud Werner of Steamboat Springs, Colo., made final practice runs today in preparation for a week-end both hope "will give the United States at least one title" in the world ski championships.

Miss Deaver finished 24th in Thursday's downhill for women but has drawn the No. 1 starting position for Saturday's giant slalom. Werner, trailing badly in the combined ratings, believes he can win Sunday's downhill event for the men.

No other American has a chance—barring a miracle—as the week-long competition draws to a close.

MEETING AT THE CHI CHI for luncheon following their weekly tournament at O'Donnell Golf Club, members of the Ladies Choose-Up foursome group, planned for future tournaments. Clockwise around the table, the Mmes. Jean Drew, E. A. Young, N. C. Jamison, J. R. Townsend, F. E. Lauppe, John Saunders, Jack Lynch, Alfred Oppenheimer, Fred Nicholson, W. R. McWaters, I. L. ## Best Ball Card of 55 Wins Ladies Choose-Up Play

Carding a 55 best ball score, the foursome of Mmes. Neil Jamison, A. M. Oppenheimer, John Saunders and J. R. Townsend, won the weekly Ladies Choose-up tournament at O'Donnell Golf Club Thursday.

In second spot with a best ball 56 were the Mmes. Daniel Wells, E. A. Young, A. B. Graham Jr., and Jean Drew.

Other scores were: 60—Mmes. Fred Nicholson, George Roberson, Walter McWaters, F. E. Lauppe.

62—Mmes. Jack Lynch, A. B. Graham Sr., I. L. Boling, Harry DeVenney.

Following the golf matches, the women met at the Chi Chi for luncheon.

Crashes Viewed As Occupational Hazard by Clubs

NEW YORK — With a few exceptions, major league executives and players accept the risk of airplane crashes as an "occupational hazard."

A United Press survey made that clear today in the wake of Thursday's crash in Munich which killed seven members of the Manchester United soccer team. National League teams must fly, of course, to meet a schedule which includes two West Coast teams. American League teams also are increasing flights.

Baseball's most notable non-flyers are the New York Yankees, who have made only six flights in the last three years and have none planned for this year. No change in their policy is anticipated as long as George Weiss is general manager.

Three National League teams—the Dodgers, Giants and world champion Milwaukee Braves—will make virtually all their trips by air this year. In the American League, the Detroit Tigers will fly, except between Washington and Baltimore. The three N.L. teams will travel about 20,000 miles in the air.

SHOT GLASS—A trick shot expert from 'way back, Frank (Left) O'Doul chips his golf ball into a champagne glass for the benefit of entrants in the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable convention golf tourney at Lake Merced Golf Club in San Francisco. A $1,000 prize was offered, but none of the tourney players could chip a ball into the glass from the required 10 feet away. (International Soundphoto)

Williams Warns Other Clubs He Plans Big Year

BOSTON — American League managers and players were dutifully warned today to be on guard for "one last, grand slam year" from Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox.

One of the greatest, oldest and most terrible tempered players in baseball, Williams became the highest salaried Thursday when he signed his 1958 contract.

The Red Sox customarily did not disclose any figures, except to say that Ted received a raise over last year. But the salary was estimated to be about $125,000—highest in the game—and possibly highest in baseball history including an attendance percentage deal Williams reportedly insisted on with Red Sox General Manager Joe Cronin.

The 39-year-old Williams, five-time American League batting leader, was closeted with Cronin for nearly an hour and a half.

"I'm going to do my level best to justify the contract," Williams told a host of newsmen at Fenway Park. "I will play as hard as I can and as hard as I always have. I look forward to one last, grand slam year in baseball."

Cadilli Wins by KO Over Aceves

LOS ANGELES — Veteran Gil Cadilli, 128, San Francisco, spoiled Enrique Hank Aceves' unbeaten record Thursday night with a seventh round knockout of the hard-hitting Los Angeles featherweight at the Olympic Auditorium.

Cadilli, veteran of 44 professional fights and a 10-7 underdog going into the 10-round match, dropped his 128½-pound opponent for a count of nine in the first round.

Gutty and determined, Aceves fought back and pressed the San Francisco boxer, until Cadilli caught up with him at one minute of the seventh with two left hooks to the head.

The loss was Aceves' first in 14 professional bouts. He was named co-Prospect of the Year for 1957 by Southern California boxing writers.

Bears, Trojans Clash in Critical Contest Tonight

By GENE BRYANT
United Press Sports Writer
The California Bears will be out to start their southern swing off on a winning note tonight when they take on a good Southern California squad in the premiere game of a full Pacific Coast Conference slate.

The Bears are tied with UCLA for the conference lead and a win over the Trojans is in the "must" category because the Bruins meet a weak Washington State five in the other half of the double bill at Los Angeles' Pan-Pacific Auditorium.

COACH PETE NEWELL's squad will go against UCLA Saturday night and a Bear loss to the Trojans tonight would leave California with little chance of sitting on top of the heap when this week-end's action is over. A Trojan win would also further scramble what has been one of the closest PCC races in years.

In the Northwest, Idaho and Oregon State will attempt to stay in the running when the Vandals meet Washington at Seattle and the Beavers host Oregon in a "traditional" at Corvallis.

THE HUSKIES have proved troublesome to several teams this season—notably Michigan State and OSC—and the Vandals cannot afford another loss. A Webfoot victory over the Beavers would also virtually snuff out any title hopes Coach Slat's Gills' quintet still entertains.

Stanford is idle. Going into tonight's contests, Cal and UCLA are deadlocked for the top spot with 5-1 marks, followed by Idaho 5-2, Oregon State 5-3 and USC 4-3. Washington and Oregon head the second division with 3-5 records, followed by Stanford 2-7 and Washington State 1-6.

Only 4 Dodgers Unsigned Today For New Season

By UNITED PRESS
Pitchers Don Bessent and Danny McDevitt of the Los Angeles Dodgers came to terms today, leaving only four team members unsigned.

The St. Louis Cardinals became the first major league club to report all hands on deck Wednesday, so now the Dodgers are striving to gain the No. 2 spot in the contract league.

Among the other major league clubs, the Cincinnati Reds and the Chicago White Sox were nearing home in the salary race. Each had 10 players unsigned.

Outfielder Frank Robinson became the 33rd Cincinnati player to come to terms. The White Sox announced the signing of southpaw pitcher Don Rudolph.

Ruben Gomez, frequently mentioned as the San Francisco Giants' biggest "trade bait," accepted his new contract with the former Polo Grounds crew.

Veteran Alex Kellner and rookie pitcher Jerry Boxer returned their signed contracts to the Kansas City Athletics, who now have 22 players lined up for the 1958 season.

Bud Byerly, the Washington Senators' "Yankee hater," and teammates Jose Valdivielso and Jerry Snyder also signed on the dotted line.

Pitcher Jim Brady and catcher Tim Thompson signed with the Detroit Tigers.

PETTIT LOSES CAST

PHILADELPHIA — The cast on St. Louis Hawks' star Bob Pettit's injured left hand will be removed today. Hawks owner Ben Kerner and team physician Dr. Stanley London flew in from St. Louis to supervise the removal.

COLT SIGN TWO

BALTIMORE — Former Miami, Fla., halfback Jackie Simpson and Bob Bailey, an end and back from Thiel, Pa., College, have mailed in their signed contracts to the Baltimore Colts.

BOWLING

WOMEN'S LEAGUE

Hathaway Company bowlers held the lead in the Women's Bowling League, playing at the Palm Springs Bowling Academy despite a 1-3 loss to Wheelettes Thursday night.

Hathaway now has a 39½-28½ mark; Fireplace, 36-32; Hoams Pools, 35-33; Wheelettes, 34-34; D.H.S. Rotary, 34-34; Babins Realty, 26½-41½.

In Thursday night's play, Wheelettes won 3-1 from Hathaway; D.H.S. Rotary, 3-1 over Fireplace; Hoams Pools, 4-0 over Babins Realty.

Hoams Pools took high team series honors with 2519 while Fireplace had the high team game with 877.

VI Hubbs won both the high individual series, 518, and the high individual game, 191.

46 Shatter Par in Tucson Tourney

TUCSON, Ariz. — One robin doesn't mean it's spring and one round doesn't win a 72-hole golf tournament, but there were at least 46 happy guys who teed off in the second round of the $15,000 Tucson Open golf tournament today. They all had first day par-cracking efforts to their credit.

Not since the St. Paul Open last summer have the golfers literally taken a course apart as they did in the first round here Thursday. Three men tied for the lead with six-under-par efforts of 64: Manuel de la Torre, Milwaukee, Wis.; Frank Stranahan, Toledo, O.; and Bill Johnston, Provo, Utah.

AND THEY WERE ONLY one shot in front of John Barnum, Grand Rapids, Mich., and the unknown Jim Riggins, Anderson, S.C.

Three more were right on their heels with 66: Jerry Barber, Los Angeles; Lionel Hebert, Lafayette, La.; and Tony Lema, Napa, Calif. The little Del Rio Country Club course is "duck soup" for the touring pros. At 6,400 yards it is a drive and a wedge on most par-four hole.

STRANAHAN, winner of the $40,000 Los Angeles Open this year, had nines of 32-32, but wasn't too happy because he failed to birdie either of the course's two par-five holes. Par for the course is 35-35—75. De la Torre had 32-32, also, getting a lift by chipping

Mud Knocks Out Seven Favorites At Santa Anita

ARCADIA — Gray-coated Silver Sandal today topped a field of 11 for the running of the featured Arcadia Rotary Club Purse at Santa Anita.

Top competition in the mile and sixteenth event was expected from foreign-breds Peter Chan, an English horse, and Fetiche II, from Argentina.

A heavy track Thursday was bad news for form players. Seven favorites ran out of first place.

Stumbling Block, a 17-1 long-shot struggled home in the seven-furlong feature race, the $10,000 National Date Festival Purse, to win by a length over Winking Louise. Zevis Joy was third.

Time for the event was a slow 1:29 4-5, but the payoff on the Alfred G. Vanderbilt fillie was a fat $35.20, 10.50 and 5.50.

Science Finds Effective Poison Ivy Weapon

By DELOS SMITH
United Press Science Editor
NEW YORK (UP) — Science seems to have forged a really effective weapon against poison ivy — at last. This means that even if spring is far away, thousands may now look forward to its coming without any sense of dread.

The weapon is a chemical compound "made" in the laboratory of Dr. Charles R. Dawson, chemistry professor at Columbia University. With that compound, a physician gave summer-long immunity to persons who had been highly sensitive to poison ivy.

DAWSON AND A group of his graduate students were the first to break down the chemistry of the poison into its component parts. Several of these components they duplicated with chemical compounds of their own making. All of this was done back in 1952.

These compounds were altered in various chemical ways to produce analogues, that is chemical compounds very much like the parent compound but still not identical. One of these analogues was, chemically speaking, 3-n-pentadecyl catechol which theoretically could bestow immunity upon persons sensitive to poison ivy.

DR. HARRY KEIL, an allergist, got a supply of it for testing in those people. He selected 28 of his patients who were, in his words, "known to be intensely hypersensitive to poison ivy and to be in direct or indirect contact with the plant."

In late April and early May he injected a tiny amount of the compound under the skin of an arm just enough to produce a slight bump. He did this once a week for six weeks. Some of the 28 got the "course" of injections during succeeding springs, a year apart. In all 38 "courses" were given.

TWENTY OF THE 38 recipients of "courses" were entirely free of poison ivy attacks for an entire summer although, Keil specified, there was no doubt that they had been in contact with poison ivy. Sixteen had mild, short attacks, which may have been produced by the chemical compound itself.

The remaining two of the 38, Keil classified as "failures" but as "moderate" ones. One of these two, for instance, pulled poison ivy out of the ground with bare hands which will give a mild poison ivy attack to some persons who have natural immunity.

Keil made his report to the medical society of the state of New York. The idea of the injections was to "influence" the "shock organ" involved in poison ivy poisoning into producing chemical defenses against the "shock." The "shock organ" here is the base layer of the skin.

Roberta Poliak Given Honor

Among the top ten per cent of students scholastically at Whittier College last semester who have been named to the Honor Roll is Roberta Poliak, 227 Via Las Palmas.

A total of 102 Whittier College students were honored in this manner, according to Mrs. Evelyn Biddle, registrar.

Influences of many lands are noticeable in Palm Springs architecture . . . and styles range from the quaint Old Adobe that still stands on the Villae Green . . . to the Nemeroff's House of Tomorrow on Hermosa Place . . . from the Bob McCullochs' fabulous Thunderbird home that's like no other house . . . to the exciting styling of the Huddle-Springs . . . Lily Pons' little jewelbox of a house mingles the Parisian, the oriental and Connecticut in a fascinating blend . . . and other outstanding examples are the Braunschweigers' Rock Point home and Milners hillside house with a view . . . Bernard Ford's ship house on the desert . . . and the Gallois' French Provincial . . . and Benoit's three-level house . . . and the Raymond Loewy-designed Robinson store . . .

Moorish architecture made a lot of converts Wednesday night . . . when the Thomas Davises opened their marble palace . . . on the hill above Thunderbird . . . for a preview party . . . Certainly it's beautiful . . . and it has a spacious, uncluttered look . . . an airiness and coolness that make it the right kind of a place for the desert . . . Through the enormous front door . . . we entered a courtyard floored in marble and centered with a big round marble fountain . . . and overheard the stars glittered . . . Playing in the courtyard was Frankie Ortega and his orchestra from the Desert Inn . . . and arranged in an intriguing circle near the entrance stands the little brass elephants on wheels that are maharajah's toys . . . and which Mrs. Davis has collected herself . . .

Dominating the livingroom and setting the color scheme for the draperies is a huge oil painting of the hostess . . . All one side of this big room is a breath-taking vista . . . looking out through pillared arches onto the pool and gardens . . . Making it a scene of almost unreal splendor was the big silver moon that rode high in the night sky and appeared between the arches like a setting for a stage play . . .

Next month the Davises . . . who came here from Bel-Air and Miami . . . plan a costume housewarming party in their new home . . . and this was only a kind of preview showing . . . In the crowd were Marion Davies and Capt. Horace Brown, Buddy Rogers, Pat and Arthur Lake . . . the Al Hunts, Ruth Cutten, Ruth and Chuck Bowie from New York, the Harry Todds of Tacoma who are wintering at the Desert Inn . . . George Frelinghuysen of New York and Bel-Air . . . Cobina Wright with Hal Hayes . . . Jan King with Pierre Bouscaren . . . George Stocesco, former Rumanian ambassador to Japan . . . the Johnny Dawsons . . . Winsome Courtney, Bob Taliaferro, Bill Gorman . . . Vicki Malouf, J. Ross Clark, Russell Wades . . . and many more . . . Billie and Bob Kenaston were leaving as we arrived . . . on their way to the Mel Eaton party at the Committee of 25 Club . . .

After the party . . . we dropped into the Chi Chi and stayed for the second show . . . which concluded Ginny Simms' engagement there . . . She came over to talk with us . . . and with Sally Eilers Morse and the Graham Dexters in the adjoining booth . . . and said she'd cancelled her show in Kansas City and wants to clear up the cold she's had before she goes east . . .

Thorntons Cruising South Seas

A letter received here by friends of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Thornton (she is the sister of Fran Blish of Palm Springs) tells of their delightful trip to the South Seas and the Orient on the Lurline's first such voyage. Also aboard the cruise is Sandy Cordell, that attractive blond, singer from Texas, who came to Palm Springs via New York, and appeared during the Thanksgiving holidays at a local hotel. To quote Mrs. Thornton "Sandy Cordell is a darling and her voice superb. She has quite taken the ship by storm." After late March when the cruise ends, Sandy may appear again before Palm Springs audiences in one of the smart clubs. The Thorntons, who have spent several months here each winter from their home in Illinois, report they are finding the islands "fascinating," and still unspoiled by tourists. But they doubt if it will last for long, as they see new airports being built everywhere, and more ships are planning cruises to this section. They say Tahiti is more native than the others, no bugs — even no tipping! Very beautiful women are seen on this island, they say. The cruise ship is in the New Guinea area now, having been to New Zealand, and Australia, and now is heading north and west to Singapore, Bangkok, Manila, Hong Kong, Yokohama and last stop will be Honolulu. They will dock in San Francisco on March 19th and the Thorntons will come directly to Palm Springs to finish their winter holiday for a month or so.

America Was Sabotaged in Music Exhibit at World's Fair, Critic Claims

By ELMER C. WALZER
United Press Financial Editor
NEW YORK — America has a billion dollar hi-fi business, including the sets, records, etc. And no nation comes close to this branch of musical reproduction. And then there's American jazz which is unique with the United States — or so the Belgian World's Fair people would tell you.

Anyhow therein lies a controversy which is gathering worldwide notice. And Russia may brag she has beaten the U. S. in cultural achievement.

THERE WAS SUPPOSED to be a contest on recordings in which each nation represented at the Belgian fair would submit three records each in 14 categories. It looked as if the U. S. would win hands down and make Russia look like a sucker.

The United States group asked the music critic of Saturday Review to help get our selections in to line. Before Irving Kolodin could get his records into an envelope came a letter telling him the contest was off.

BELGIUM CALLED off the contest and Kolodin, writing in the current Saturday Review, gives the impression that the Belgian government was in cahoots with Russia on that little deal.

He doesn't say so in so many words, but in connection with the cancellation, he has this to say: "Could it be that the cancellation was possibly related to Russia's well-known deficiency in the field of high fidelity recording? The subject seems hardly worthy of an international incident but when actions are unexplained suspicions are rampant."

KOLODIN NOTES that Russia seems to be choosing the activities in which it excels and he warns against a half-hearted, penny-pinching participation by the U. S. "that would be worse than no participation at all."

And so it goes all through the cultural field. Russia is sending vast numbers of works of art to the exhibition and is spending some $60 million against the U.S. spending of one-fifth that amount at the fair.

WE ARE GOING to have the same trouble in the theater, says Henry Hewes, theater critic of the Saturday Review. We've got to be careful about offending any of our allies, which leads him to remark:

"All this makes one wonder if it wouldn't have been simpler to follow Billy Rose's suggestion that we send an aquacade. Long stemmed American beauties are uninhibited, inoffensive, and impressive. Furthermore, they lose nothing in translation."

To all this the American group handling Belgian fair publicity says "no." The U. S. will make a good showing at the 500 acres of fair to be held from April 17 to Oct. 19 this year, it asserts. Perhaps, say the cynics, Coca-Cola will give us the pause that refreshes.

Joseph Cotten Predicts TV To Remove Regional Accents

By VERNON SCOTT
United Press Hollywood Writer
HOLLYWOOD — Joseph Cotten has a theory that television will eliminate regional language accents and colloquialisms in this country within a generation or so. "We'll all be talking the same language, so to speak," he ventured in a slight southern accent. "TV is more effective than radio or movies in neutralizing accents because people spend more time with it."

JOE WASN'T sounding off just to hear his own complicated lingo which includes the Bostonian broad "A," the New Yorker's habit of swallowing R's, and faint overtones of his native Virginia.

The graying actor spent years in radio using a variety of dialects. "In the early days of talking pictures I dubbed foreign films from France and Italy into English. We radio actors frequently dubbed four or five roles in a single film. I remember I once did 14 different parts."

"WHEN THE FIRST English-made pictures played American theaters audiences made fun of them, talking back to the screen in exaggerated brigadoes," Joe said, slipping into a blighty pronunciation.

"So I got work translating dialogue from English to American." He pointed out that few successful TV actors or emcees can be pegged as to their origins by their patois. Even local announcers are losing their drawls, twangs and brogues.

"MOST ACTORS minimize their The Arctic term probably sees more daylight than any other creature. The world's greatest traveler, it nests each summer in the North Polar regions, then flies some 11,000 miles to Antarctica for another nightless summer."

DR. A. U. MICHELSON, founder and minister of the First Hebrew Christian Synagogue in Los Angeles, will present two lectures in Palm Springs Sunday. Dr. Michelson's subject will be "The Jews and Palestine."

Hebrew Christian Church Founder to Speak Here

Dr. A. U. Michelson, nationally prominent as the founder and minister of the First Hebrew Christian Synagogue of Los Angeles, will deliver two lectures in Palm Springs Sunday.

Dr. Michelson well known for his nationwide broadcasts on the "Hebrew Christian Hour," will talk on "The Jews and Palestine" in the Plaza theater at 2:30 p.m.

HE WILL PRESENT his second lecture at 7:30 p.m., Sunday, in Our Saviors Lutheran Church, 400 North Belardo Road.

Formerly an attorney in Germany, Dr. Michelson was reared by an Orthodox Jewish family and later embraced Christianity, according to Mr. and Mrs. Roland Axness, of 1050 Tamarisk Road, with whom Dr. Michelson will visit during his stay in Palm Springs.

DR. MICHELSON, who recently returned from his third extensive missionary tour of Israel, Europe and North Africa, will report on the social and industrial development of Palestine and Israel.

He explained that his mission is designed to bring about "a better understanding between Jews and Gentiles on the basis of the Christian faith."

The mission which he established in Los Angeles now has branches and missionaries in many parts of the world.

Safeway Board Declares Stock Dividend Today

Board of directors of Safeway Stores, Inc., at a meeting held today declared quarterly dividends of 25 cents per share on the company's $1.66 2/3 par common stock, $1.00 per share on its 4 per cent preferred stock and $1.07 1/2 per share on its 4.30 per cent convertible preferred stock.

These dividends are payable April 1, 1958 to stockholders of record at the close of business on Feb. 21, 1958.

At the same meeting the Directors called the annual meeting of the common stockholders for Tuesday, April 22, at 11 a.m. p.m. to elect directors and transact such other business as may properly come before the meeting. The meeting will be held in Room 1153, Matheson Building, 10 Light Street, Baltimore, Md. The close of business of March 24 has been fixed as the record date for the meeting.

Knowland Names County Leader

Mrs. Adrian Cameron of Riverside, was today appointed vice chairman of the women's group of the Riverside County "Knowland for Governor" campaign.

Mrs. Cameron, prominent Riverside ranch owner, will assist in creation of Knowland for Governor clubs throughout the county, according to Dick Darling, county campaign chairman.

Algae, primitive water-loving plants, have been found growing in ice and snow above the Arctic Circle and in hot springs where water reaches 200 degrees Fahrenheit.

Gordon Cologne Reports On County Charter Plans

CATHEDRAL CITY — A proposed charter for Riverside County will be completed before March 10, Indio Attorney Gordon Cologne reported here Wednesday.

Cologne, a member of the County Board of Freeholders, said that following its completion, the charter will be published for 30 days before it's placed before county voters on June 3.

Cologne reported on charter progress at a meeting of the Cathedral City Area Business Association.

The association also heard Rev. James W. Arnold discuss plans for construction of a new Cathedral City Community Church, which he said is expected to cost about $250,000. Association members also renewed their campaign for a Cathedral City sheriff's sub-station by ordering a letter sent to the Board of Supervisors and Sheriff Joe Rice as a "reminder" of the original request made last year.

Victor Durand Serves at El Toro

Marine S Sgt. Victor D. Durand, of 32-581 Shifting Sands, is serving with Marine Wing Service Group 37, a unit of the Third Marine Aircraft Wing at the El Toro Marine Corps Air Station, Santa Ana.

Siegel Named Contest Winner

Philip Siegel, 696 Warm Sands Drive, has won a prize of common stocks worth $100 in the Share of America contest, it has just been announced by the Remington Electric Shaver Division of the Sperry Rand Corporation, sponsors of the contest.

This contest which closed on December 1, 1957, offered a potential $156,000 in prizes to be awarded in common stocks listed on the New York stock Exchange. Common stocks rather than cash were selected as prizes because of the widespread interest in participation in the growth of American industry through share ownership.

Deposits at New DHS Bank Of America Hit Million

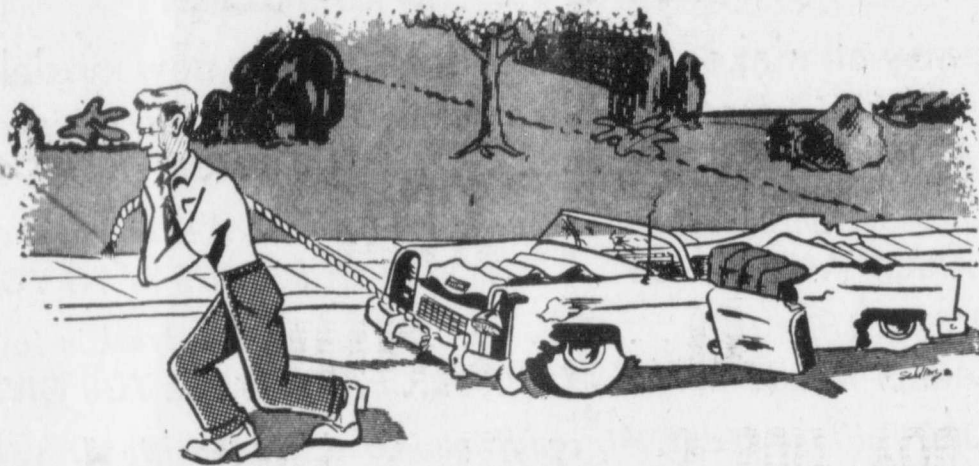

DESERT HOT SPRINGS—Bank of America's new Desert Hot Springs branch hit the million-dollar mark in total deposits only 48 days after it opened for business, it was revealed today by Manager John T. Mack.

Said Mack: "We think the people of the area will be pleased to know this, since it reflects their own economic health. When so many people tell you how glad they are to have a bank in the community and how long they have waited for one — as they have in Desert Hot Springs — you know you're going to see quite a bit of activity. But, frankly, we had no idea it would be anything like this."

"We were pleasantly surprised to see so many people turn out for our open house last December, and the rapid growth we have seen since goes right along with the enthusiasm we saw then." The bank opened at Pierson Boulevard and Palm Avenue on Dec. 16, 1957, and reached the $1,000,000 total at the close of business Monday, Feb. 3. "The staff and I are grateful for the fine acceptance the Desert Hot Springs community has given us," said Mack. "We'd like to express our thanks, and to let the community know that we are here to stay and grow with the community, adding new facilities as the area requires."
